

Connecting Life with Career

Certificate Course in Skills for Career Guidance and Counselling

The Jiva Approach to Career Development

The Jiva Model of Career counselling has been developed for India by The Promise Foundation and the Consultant Psychologists Group in partnership with leading career psychologists from around the world. Jiva means life in most Indian languages and this approach views career development as integrally connected to life. Key features of this method are:

- A values based approach to career choice. The model rests on five principles drawn from Asian thought that underline how work is inherently connected to the larger context. These values are interpreted to match the demands of the contemporary world of work.
- A mixed methods approach to assessment. Jiva blends quantitative with qualitative methods. The Career Guidance Facilitator learns a testing process that is contextually grounded and at the same time able to offer a framework within which objective measurements can be made. The approach within the Jiva method is not to use normative data to compare one individual with another. Instead an intra-individual approach is taken to help the individual gain insights into the profile of his/her interests and aptitudes.
- Participant-led learning. Emphasis is laid on building the career chooser's skills to take responsibility for career development. Therefore the Jiva workshop design has no lectures or formal teaching units. The role of the facilitator is to guide and create an environment for career discovery. Strong emphasis is laid on peer-learning and introspection.
- Comprehensive resources for career guidance. Central to this course is the Jiva Kit. This is a rich compendium of career guidance material with which a complete career guidance programme can be delivered at low cost and low resource requirements. The Kit is described in greater detail on the following pages.

The Career Discovery Path

The Jiva model comprises four key elements of career guidance which together are described as the Career Discovery Path as shown in the figure below.

Specific activities have been developed for each of these components. The facilitator guides students systematically through each set of activities. Learning is cumulative and learnings of one activity contribute to the next one and so on throughout the programme. The Jiva workshop series culminates with the student identifying a set of career alternatives and learning how to prepare for these alternatives.

Jiva has reached over 300,000 students and youth, trained more than 200 counsellors, has won international endorsement for its validity, and has been adapted for use in a number of other countries.

This course in Basic Skills for Career Counselling develops the participant's capacity to deliver career guidance using the Jiva approach. The course blends theory with practice and is designed to build participants' knowledge and skills for career guidance facilitation.

The Jiva Kit

The Jiva Kit is a collection of career development resources designed around the Career Discovery Path and developed specially for India. The Kit does not excessively rely on infrastructural support. Some Jiva counsellors are even able to conduct effective career guidance just under the shade of a tree using the Jiva Kit! All participants who complete the Jiva course receive a complete Jiva Kit. An overview of the Kit is provided below.

Facilitator's Training Manual

- A comprehensive handbook covering key themes, a detailed explanation of career guidance skills and comprehensive facilitators' notes.
- All notes are supported by a set of worksheets that students can use to note down their learnings.

Flip Charts

- A set of large, durable charts that the facilitator can use for each of the sessions.
- Large enough for a class room of about 30 to 40 children.
- Allows the facilitator to conduct the programme with a minimum of resources.

Student Worksheets

- The Kit supplies a Master Set of Student Worksheets in soft copy. Facilitators can print out the number of workbooks they require.
- Students compile all the worksheets into their Jiva Workbook at the end of the programme. A completed workbook is a permanent resource for the student's further thinking about career development.

Learning Cards

- Jiva activities facilitate peer learning. Small group discussions are supported by large Learning Cards containing career development information.
- Students use the cards for their discussions and to fill in their worksheet.

Career Information Cards and Career Dictionary

- Comprehensive career information for close to 160 careers based on the International Standard Classification of Occupations is included in the kit as career information cards and dictionaries.
- Each card carries detailed information about career paths, specialisations possible within each career, qualifications and eligibility.
- The cards are presented in a sturdy bag and can be placed in a classroom for easy access.
- Career Dictionaries are attractive booklets with abbreviated career definitions that students can use for an overview of a wide range of careers.

The Jiva Certificate Course

The Jiva Course is an intensive six-day course delivered in the workshop format and takes a competency based, learning outcomes oriented approach to the process of teaching and learning. The course content comprises Conceptual Foundations and Core Skills. Participants learn career guidance theory and concepts and receive intensive training in skills for career guidance focusing on mastery over the Jiva Kit. The key features of our training methodology are as follows:

- * Lectures and Discussions
- * Demonstrations
- * Personalised Tutorials where necessary
- * Skills Practice
- * Role plays
- * Group Presentations
- * Assignments and Tests
- * Formative and Summative Feedback
- * Skills practice with Students: Participants prepare and present a practice workshop to a group of grade 10 students
- * Independent field assignment.

Interest and Aptitude Testing

The participant is trained in a comprehensive and modern method of assessment that blends quantitative and qualitative methods. The tools used by Jiva are compiled into a battery called the Comprehensive Student Information Protocol (CSIP) that collects information pertaining to aptitude, interest, hobbies and accomplishments, and academic history. The course will train the participant to administer the CSIP to the client and send the data back to the Jiva team for interpretation and analysis. When the Jiva counsellor begins practicing career counselling, he/she will be required to purchase one CSIP for each student.

The Jiva Career Report

Students who go through the Jiva Workshop receive an individualised Career Report, based on CSIP data collected by the Jiva counsellor. The Jiva Team in Bangalore will score, interpret the CSIP and generate the Report. The Report will present: the student's potential profile, recommended subject streams, suitable career alternatives and detailed career paths (with institutional information) for each of the suggested alternatives.

Types of Jiva Workshops

The Jiva workshop is flexible and can be conducted in multiple formats. The participant will learn to design Jiva workshops in these different formats. Various time tables will be discussed. These time tables will help the Jiva counsellor fit into the schedules of the school/client. Counsellors can also select Jiva activities and conduct workshops without interest/aptitude testing, if they feel a client does not need a career report.

Working with Parents

Parents are central to the career decision making process. Jiva brings parent and child together so that the child learns to inform parents' of his/her interests while parents learn to interpret their life experiences into the present context. Jiva trainees learn to conduct parent workshops using five interesting power point presentations. These workshops are designed to build parents' awareness and teach them how they can be a holistic influence on their child's career decisions. The training also teaches the Jiva counsellor skills to present and explain the Jiva Career Report to the parent.
